Brookfield Renewable Corporation (“BEPC”)

JULY 2020

Brookfield

We are giving investors the flexibility to invest in Brookfield Renewable either through the current Partnership or a newly-created Canadian corporation

BEPC will be a Canadian corporation, created via an effective stock split

BEP LP unitholders will receive one (1) share of BEPC for every four (4) units of BEP

- Fractional shares will not be issued, so investors who hold a quantity of BEP units not divisible by 4 will receive a cash payout for the difference
- We expect to complete the special distribution in the third quarter of 2020

BEPC shares are structured to be economically-equivalent to BEP units

BEP LP units and BEPC shares are intended to be effectively economically equivalent

We see many benefits in establishing BEPC

Benefits to establishing BEPC: expanded investor base

Opportunity to attract new investors that would not otherwise invest in limited partnerships due to tax reporting or other reasons

Benefits to establishing BEPC: broader index inclusion

1) Based on preliminary analysis, and subject to approval by index committees.

Benefits to establishing BEPC: tax advantages for some investors

BEPC investors will receive:

Higher after-tax yield (certain investors)

Dividends are expected to be eligible to be qualified for U.S. non-corporate investors

"Eligible dividends" for Canadian investors

Common dividend reporting slips

Annual Form 1099-DIV (U.S.)

Annual Form T5 (Canada)

BEPC expected to have minimal impact on Brookfield Renewable

- ✓ No incremental tax consequences
- ✓ No change in management oversight or governance
- ✓ No impact to credit ratings expected
- ✓ Immaterial administrative costs to maintain

No expected impact to BEP's financial statements and metrics

The value of your distributions will remain the same

- The split is net neutral to distributions
 - The per-unit value of each BEP unit distribution will decrease, but since the aggregate number of units and BEPC shares outstanding increases proportionately, your aggregate distribution will remain unchanged
- BEPC dividends will be declared and paid at the same time as BEP unit distributions
- BEP's preferred shares and preferred LP units will not be eligible for the split
- BEPC's transfer agent will be Computershare (same as BEP)

Brookfield Renewable (BEP/BEPC) will target the same
5% to 9% annual per share/unit distribution growth

Tax Profile of Future Distributions

	BEP (U.S.)	BEP (Europe)	BEP (CAN)	BEPC (U.S.)	BEPC (Europe)	BEPC (CAN)
Composition	Investment income (interest, dividends, return of capital)			Dividends only (generally no return of capital)
Dividend Type	Partially Qualified ¹	N/A	Partially Eligible ²	Fully Qualified	N/A	Fully Eligible
Tax Form	K-1	Dependent	T5013	1099-DIV	Dependent	T5
Withholding Tax	Partial ³	Partial ³	No	Yes	Yes	No
UBTI/ECI⁴	No	No	No	No	No	No

Investors should consult with their tax advisors for personalized advice as individual circumstances vary

- 1) For a U.S. resident unitholder, BEP's estimated distribution is typically composed of qualified dividend income, ordinary dividend income and returns of capital.
- 2) For a Canadian resident unitholder, BEP's estimated distribution is typically composed of 50% eligible Canadian dividend, 25% foreign dividend and return of capital.
- 3) Refer to the following slide for further details.
- 4) For U.S. tax purposes, "UBTI" and "ECI" mean, respectively, "unrelated business taxable income" and "effectively connected income".

Estimated Withholding Tax Distribution Profile: U.S. and European Investors

	BEP		BEPC
	Distribution %	Withholding Tax ¹	Dividend %	Withholding Tax ¹
Canadian Dividend	50%	15%	100%	15%
Return of Capital (Canada or Bermuda)	25%	0%	-	-
Bermuda Dividend	25%	0%	-	-
Total	100%	7.5%²	100%	15%

- Dividends from Canada are generally subject to Canadian withholding tax. For most taxable¹ U.S. and European investors, such dividends are withheld at a rate of 15%
- We expect European and U.S. investors to be able to claim a foreign tax credit on their return, but this should be confirmed with an investor's tax advisor

1) Based on withholding tax rates for taxable U.S. holders eligible for the benefits of the U.S.-Canada double tax treaty and most European treaty-eligible investors (UK, Ireland, Switzerland, Netherlands).

2) Weighted based on estimated distribution profile.

Why are we not implementing a full conversion?

The continued existence of BEP alongside BEPC provides three key advantages:

Allows us to issue preferred units at a lower cost of capital

May provide certain unitholders with higher current after-tax yields

More cost-effective way to hold investments in certain jurisdictions

TerraForm Power Transaction

In March, Brookfield Renewable and TERP entered into a definitive agreement for BEP and BEPC to acquire all the outstanding shares TERP, other than the 62% currently owned by Brookfield Renewable and its affiliates (the “TERP acquisition”)

- Each share of TERP not owned by BEP and its affiliates will be acquired for consideration equivalent to 0.381¹ of a BEP unit
- As form of consideration, TERP shareholders can elect to receive BEPC shares or BEP units
 - Provides TERP shareholders the flexibility to invest in Brookfield Renewable either through the existing partnership or a corporate structure
 - TERP shareholders who do not make any election will receive BEPC shares
- Special distribution of BEPC shares to BEP unitholders is expected to close immediately prior to closing of the TERP acquisition

1) As holders of BEP units are expected to receive one BEPC exchangeable share for every four BEP units in the special distribution, the exchange ratio is expected to be adjusted to 0.47625.

2) The TERP acquisition is subject to the satisfaction of certain customary conditions including the receipt of the approval of the majority of the unaffiliated TERP shareholders.

BEPC's initial market capitalization is expected to exceed $4 billion³
